WHAT COACHES ARE SAYING

“Forrest Larson is proof that you can be a great teacher of the game no matter where you are. I would send my son or daughter to his camp in a New York minute.”

...Dick Bennett, Retired Head Coach University of Wisconsin/Washington State

“At the Prairie du Chien Perimeter Camp you will use many of the same drills we use in our own individual instruction. If you are serious about putting in the time and effort that it takes to become a better player, I would strongly recommend that this camp be part of your summer schedule.”

A MESSAGE FROM COACH LARSON

The summer 2018 basketball camp season will be here quickly. Where your players choose to attend camp is an important decision. Crucial time, money and energy will be spent at camp. I believe our camp to be an excellent choice.

Passing, catching, offensive footwork, the ability to shoot and finish – its obvious these skills are crucial to be successful on the basketball court. It's a game of skills and those skills have to be executed playing at full speed. These skills are what our camp at Prairie du Chien is all about.

At our perimeter camp I believe we help players to understand what factors lead to excellent perimeter play. Each session we focus on techniques and skills that are crucial to good play. It is our belief that by improving the skill level of your players we can then also increase their desire to play their position the way it is supposed to be played. Besides increasing the campers' level of play we strive to enhance their basketball intelligence and their ability to communicate. I want each player to return to you with new ideas, drills, and workouts to be more inspired, dedicated and effective.
